About this boat

A rare pricing adjustment on a proven bluewater Antares. Alpha Blondie has recently undergone a significant price reduction—not due to condition or capability, but the result of a very specific ownership situation combined with today's shifting market dynamics. The owner's priority is to move the boat forward to her next chapter, creating an opportunity that we simply have not seen before on a comparable Antares 44. Located in Greece and exceptionally well equipped, she has been consistently maintained—even while in storage—and remains ready for serious offshore cruising. For buyers who have been waiting for the right entry point into the Antares market, this represents a compelling and uncommon opportunity.
